"Rag Town" in Catlow

Supt. Breithaupt has just returned from a trip to Catlow Valley where he found conditions discouraging so far as moisture is concerned, but he found some of the settlers had already seeded some ground and were determined to make a trial even though there is but little moisture. It is possible that with a season as favorable as last they will yet get some good yields.

Mr. Breithaupt found quite a settlement of a dozen or more families about six miles from Beckley post office that has been named "Rag Town." This is not intended as a slur, but it is in reality a "rag town" if it can be called a town, as there is not a lumber building in the community. Those who have settled there have all been living in tents with a community well of some 75 feet in depth. These tents have been placed as closely together as their various claims will permit, therefore it does resemble a town of tents.

Mr. Breithaupt found this settlement eager to begin operations and he found about an acre of land that was in good shape to plant so instructed them to fence it and put it in shape and he will send them seed for planting.

A Letter From Capt. Scott's Mother in Eng.

Guy Drury, late of the Margaret Hies Co., has received a letter from the mother of Capt. Scott who lost his life in his expedition to the south pole. Mr. Drury was a school mate and boyhood friend of Capt. Scott and upon receipt of his sad fate wrote his aged mother in England extending his condolences.

The old lady writes an interesting letter and recounts the goodness of her son, but her grief is for a dutiful son and not for the mighty deeds which the world values so highly.

A Difference of Opinion

The Times-Herald stated in its last issue that the city council had rejected the proposition of Mr. Green to establish a water and sewer system in Burns but that the firm had been paid $300 for work and the plans submitted as it was necessary under the contract made. It is since learned that this amount has not yet been paid Mr. Green but two of the former councilmen who are still on the board informed the present mayor that it would have to be paid. Now it is claimed Green is not entitled to the money, therefore the contract will be examined before such an amount will be allowed Mr. Green. However, the two councilmen insist the city is obliged to pay the amount.

C. M. Salisbury invites his friends and customers to see him in his new quarters formerly occupied by James Smith opposite the First National Bank.

Saloon Burned at Narrows

W. H. McKenzie's saloon at Narrows, was burned last Tuesday night. He had just recently bought the place together with the dance hall adjoining it and therefore the loss was quite a blow, although it was partly insured and the night being still the hall was saved.

Mr. McKenzie states the fire started from the inside a little before midnight. He had been in there until 11:00 o'clock and had not been in bed long when the alarm was given. The building and stock was entirely consumed entailing a loss of about $1200. It was insured for $700.

It had been Mr. McKenzie's intention to turn the dance hall into a hotel in order to comply with the new law governing the issuance of saloon licenses outside incorporated towns. It now seems a license may be secured as before provided the saloon is run in connection with a hotel of at least 50 rooms. Mr. McKenzie is not certain now as to whether he will build on and resume business or not, it depending somewhat upon the new law and the circumstances connected with such change.
